HISPANIC THEOLOGICAL INITIATIVE
Book Prize
Submission Guidelines

Publisher
Submission must be a nonfiction book in English by a Hispanic Junior (non-tenured) Scholar. The work must be available to the public by May 31.

Only two submissions from each publisher will be accepted. Additional submissions will not be considered and will not be returned.

Only the publisher’s designated awards administrator may make a nomination. Works that have been previously submitted may be re-submitted.

The recipient will be required to attend the award ceremony at the Summer Workshop. Please do not nominate a book if the author cannot be present for the ceremony.

All submissions must be received in the HTI office by January 25, 2016. Recipient will be announced in February, and the award presentation will be made at the Summer Workshop, June 27 to June 30, 2016.

Subject Matter
Book must engage the intellectual traditions of Christianity, Judaism or Islam. We also invite books that engage these traditions from sociological, anthropological and culture studies’ perspectives. Submissions will be judged according to their scholarly excellence.

A book that is co-authored will be considered, but the volume must have a unifying theme and not simply be a collection of essays. Collections of previously published articles will not be accepted, although a volume that contains several chapters that were previously published in journals may apply provided the volume has a cohesive theme.

Author(s)
The recipient of the award must be a Hispanic junior scholar faculty member of an academic institution in the United States.

The recipient will be required to attend the award ceremony, where the author will be required to give a lecture based upon the winning volume at the Summer Workshop, and to submit the lecture manuscript for possible publication in HTI’s Perspectivas journal.

Submission Documents:

- Application form
- Brief biography of author
- Five copies of book or bound page proofs
- Color photograph of author, sent via email (to hti@ptsem.edu), preferably in .jpeg format
- Rights to use of book cover art for design of a poster to be used for publicizing the lecture
